Coming off a disappointing loss to Texas, Arkansas hands 24th-ranked Texas Tech a 62-60 defeat for the first win over a ranked conference opponent. The win helps clear the way for another second place finish in league play for Arkansas.

1999-2000 NCAA Division I Women's Basketball National Championship Game: Duke vs. Connecticut, 75-73. Duke won the championship. The game was held at the Alamodome in San Antonio, Texas. The game was a historic moment for both teams, as it was the first time a team from the South had won the national championship. Duke's coach, Mike Krzyzewski, led his team to victory, while Connecticut's coach, Geno Auletto, led his team to a runner-up finish. The game was a thrilling contest, with both teams playing hard and scoring throughout. Duke's lead was narrow for much of the game, but they managed to pull away in the final minutes. Connecticut's fans were disappointed, but they were proud of their team's performance. The game was a testament to the skill and determination of both teams.
